Short Term Expert Consultancy, Myanmar

April 2019

LOCATION: Remote

CONTRACT: Six days over April

START DATE: ASAP

SALARY: Day rate, depending on experience

Introduction

Moonshot CVE is a boutique startup specialising in countering violent extremism. We design new methodologies and technologies to enhance the capacity of our clients to respond effectively to violent extremism. Moonshot CVE brings fresh thinking and decades of experience from across sectors to push new boundaries. Our work ranges from software development and digital capacity building, to leading global counter-messaging campaigns.

We are currently seeking a short-term consultant to work on Buddhist violent extremism in Myanmar.

Scope of Consultancy

The Consultant will undertake the following tasks:

- Advise the Moonshot CVE team on key Buddhist violent extremist actors and groups in Myanmar, and how they use social media for propaganda and recruitment.
- Assist the Moonshot CVE team in conducting a social media analysis of the at-risk audience in Myanmar.
- Translate between English and Burmese.

Timeframe

It is estimated that the consultancy will last six days. We are looking for a consultant to deliver this work as soon as possible.

Person Specification

- Demonstrable knowledge of Buddhist violent extremism in Myanmar.
- Research, analysis and drafting skills.
- Experience in social media analysis is preferred, but not required.
- Fluency in English and Burmese is required.

Please send a CV and a brief cover letter (maximum one page) stating your interest in the role and your daily rate to teresa@moonshotcve.com by 12 April. Early application is highly recommended as the position may be filled before this deadline. Please include 'Short Term Expert Consultancy, Myanmar' in the subject line of your application.
